United States:
catalyst for peace or financer of conflict?

Ask Congress to investigate tax dollars
used to harm
civilians in Gaza.

Our money, our choice.

TELL THEM YOUR MONEY COMES WITH STRINGS ATTACHED.

Join a growing number of American Jews and allies calling on Congress to investigate whether Israel complied with provisions of the US Arms Export Control Act in its recent Gaza offensive.

We care deeply for the safety of Israelis, and we are trying to make sure that Palestinian civilians are safe as well. We believe that harming civilians in Gaza does not make Israelis any safer. Only a just, negotiated agreement will bring safety to both populations.

Unfortunately numerous human rights organizations have documented direct attacks on civilians in Gaza, and attacks that were disproportionate or indiscriminate, and some apparently deliberate. When these activities are funded with our money, America's democratic principles and standing in the world are severely compromised. The long-proven, USA and International safeguards for civilian populations MUST be followed.

Congress must establish an independent and impartial investigation of violations and abuses against civilians in Gaza, and publish the results.

Our money comes with strings attached: We want to make sure that my tax dollars do not contribute to more of the same!

About Jewish Voice for Peace

Jewish Voice for Peace is a US-based grassroots organization with 80,000 supporter-activists and an advisory board that includes some of America's best-known Jewish thinkers and artists. We support both Israeli and Palestinian aspirations for peace and self-determination. Further, we believe the United States has been a primary obstacle to peace, serving to perpetuate, through unconditional financial and diplomatic support for Israel, a 41-year military occupation that has devastated countless lives and threatens to engulf the entire Middle East, if not the world. United, we can change US policy and bring about a truly just peace.
